Dear Mary

This calendar that you sent us is awfully nice. Thank you ever so much. I will try to write to you at least the six times during 1915 anyway. I wish I had half a dozen calendars just like it to send to my friends.

I hope you had an enjoyable time at Christmas. We were thinking about you and wishing that we could be at home. We had a fine turkey dinner anyway. We were invited to Johnsons' for dinner but one of the horses was sick so that Will stayed at home, and I brought the dinner to him. This is my fifth Christmas away from home.

We are invited tomorrow, New Year's eve to the Stewarts' to dinner and to dinner at Will McLoughlin's on New Year's day. Since Will has blossomed out as such a fine soloist we are invited places all the time.

Do you suppose it would be of any use for me to get some of the text-books used in college and read or study them here this winter? The two months of January & February could be spent that way. I would like to get the books on Economics, Civil Law, and on any subject from which I could get something that would be of any use. If we have a very good crop next year I would like to go to school again for at least one semester. Maybe you could suggest what books would be of advantage to read now. If you will get them for me I will send you the price.
Love Selden.
