So at last you have gone for your work," and I'm so glad you could go. This afternoon Ellen and I went down into the park with Euid and Winnie, and we met Cousin Carrie down there and when we told her that you had gone away she was so surprised and pleased too. When we were coming up we met Mrs. Antony and she said "How is your mama?" and when we told her that you had gone to Oxford she asked me who was keeping house, and we told her we were and she said "Oh you dear little kittens!"

Tonight - you know Mr. Elliott has his entertainment and Papa said that Miss Ferguson was going to speak tonight - to come even till eight and then Mr.
Whitt's is at eight, so we went down and found that Miss Fergu-son's address is postponed till tomorrow night.

Did you know "Pansy" has a new story in "The Herald and Presbyter"?
We didn't know it till today. The second chapter came today. We read both chapters just now, and it is real good. The name of it is "A Vacation Endeavor."

What did you do about Treasure's hat? Willie said you couldn't get one down town here, so I suppose Selden had to go bare-headed till you got to Wilkesbarre.

Mr. Draper came home tonight I guess, but Mrs. Draper and ^{Wanda} oh, yes, and "Grandma Draper" are going to stay a short time longer.

I guess I'll send my letters to Miss Jennie Peck and to Hilda, do you care? Oh I don't know though I guess after all I'll only send the one to Miss Peck.

Did you see the dress Mrs. Warner gave Mrs. Davis? It is real nice I think, and I should think she could go to church with that dress and that hat that you gave her of Edna's, shouldn't you? I wonder if she will!

I hope you will have a pleasant journey to Oxford and a lovely visit when you get there. Please have Seldin's hair the very prettiest.
