

My dear Mary I feel so distressed about those names. Did you get them from Sylvia? I wrote her I have also looked here tho'
I remember mailing them. I don't find them here.

I have all my regs back now - a wonderful job for the money.

The Editor wrote me that that ~~month~~ contract closes in June so I have lots of time to polish.
They said details would be in an early edition of the Editor so I will have to renew my subscription which has paid from last. I don't see what a matter to the object that the contract applies to the time as well as to the volume wouldn't be sufficient - I am poor. If it is a good contract & if I am that it is true that it is needed? Tell me what you think. I don't see as it has so much similarity to Woodsworth's on Milton.

If this point about the city is cleared up & succed in polishing any I truly think I might stand a chance & so easy.

But how could I get any thing so easy as that.

Would you mind
looking in your book to see what amount of time the Fred. Stokes Co. take to examine a manuscript? I had word from them you know that they had received it.

I have given Pat my desk as she is wild about it. I wanted it out of the living room & think its absence is an improvement. It looks very pretty in her room. She is crazy to study there but can't on account of Maria's being asleep there. It is such a relief to hear that Maria does not seem too tired. She ought to get a rest at Edmura with out having to be shut away from any intellectual life — she must have that, she is so intellectual. We are glad for you, Poppy Darling

The going to begin to clean house. It will be so easy this year. Already all drawers are in order & most every thing. I have ~~been~~ working toward it.

Well, good bye.

Love to you both.

You would be glad to see how orderly our house is all over now-a-days. We have regained.
