My very dear sister Lulu -

Last in number - but not last in my thoughts

I can now do my self the pleasure of writing to you - I can think of nothing that would interest you more than to hear a little about the food I have had eat before me since I arrived in Asia - We have breakfast at half past seven - lunch at twelve & table. close at six - The first day I was here at Dr Woods - The first day ~~we were here~~ - or rather the first day I was here - For the Beldens are at Dr Riggo - Mrs Wood had a dinner party - Two Bulgarian
- or rather Turkish ladies & Two Turkish Gentlemen - They were all very pleasant Mrs Wood had a delightful dinner.

- copy of my 2nd

Especially such a dinner as we would have had at home only the grapes were larger & sweeter - but as better About eight o'clock the man attendant brought in on a salver Turkish coffee in those dear little cups that we prize so much as a parlor ornament in our country - The coffee was delicious - I am also very fond of pe las - or pe lo - rice & tomatoes cooked together Today we had baked apples - baked potatoes - fish - tea - cake - peaches etc for lunch - we also had the most delicious kind of a sweet that our one seems to know the name of - It tastes like lavender anello & is most delicate - I have eaten quinces here that were even finer than the ones you put up last fall - Paper fails me to write more to you now Most affectionately your sister Anne

I hope I have had quinces cooked both ways as we would cook potatoes with laurel
