

Apr. 10 - 1900

Dearest E. It seems weeks ago that I started to send this letter to you. It has been very much on my mind, about what we were talking about when we were together and that is about asking Joe Bellright for a contribution to Charles Bellright. He is having some indifferent things that do not seem of more account at any rate it will do no harm to ask, and Mrs Dodge too, you know is over 90 & in all probability will not live much longer & I believe she would be glad to do something if she was asked at any rate she will have the chance. Do not delay. You will send the puppy in a few days I think you will have plenty of scrapings for him. Sausberry would get drunk that was mostly what I had him. I hope you are all well. I might write you a long letter I have so much to say, but am feeling rather unwell. My cough is almost gone but I have not gotten back my strength

I send you Carrie's letter, that my year may be interested in it. I did not go to hear Mrs. W. W. neither did Jos. or C. I was feeling so miserably with my cold and the woman that Clara wanted I got was engaged & she did not feel like leaving the children as they were not very well. Kathan particularly is often sick & C. is travelling although he is generally very well. He is a sturdy little fellow.
My cold hangs on persistently.
It seems almost like Whooping C-& C. has something in the same order. K. had a slight attack of croup & is just very well yet.
