

Westfield O., 9/4, 1902

Mr. Burr:

I thought I would write to you concerning that book you left over at Mr. & Mrs. Curdy's. Well they are <sup>now</sup> going to take the book and Mr. & Mrs. Curdy brought the book to our house. She was pretty mad about it and said that "Florence told you she would not take the book, until she saw her mother about it."

Mother <sup>is</sup> very much disappointed about the money, for she needs it, and has not got time to try and sell it.

Hoping the matter will be settled at once & remain yours respectfully

Florence said that she would want to wait & see her mother first. in the first part of the canvass but finally she said she would risk her mother's assent and get the book. & pay 2.50 to Mrs D. on Monday.
Mrs McCurdy's up in the air!
that's all I don't know anything about it. M. B.

If not received in 6 da. return to Mrs. Miss Doubekam
