Huntsbury Ohio

Dear Willie,

Well at last we are all separated, the house in the hands of the Newells. They seem like very nice people & people who are used to good furniture. There are four children, mother & father and Japanese maid.

Mr Bartholomew is playing a horn here and I hardly know what I am saying. He is what you might call an educated farmer stopping every morning to look over the daily paper, at noon to practice, at night to lead the town band. He has a man living on his farm & this house is in town. Mrs B. is exhibiting maple sugar at the Columbus-fair.

You can imagine how tired we all are after our sacking and storing away in the garret last week. Mamma I hope is resting at Aunt Lily's now.

Did anyone write you that Uncle Addison or Aunt Jenny sent Mamma some money to help pay up our debts before leaving Oberlin?

We have nothing but the bank note left & enough money for my opening semester bill.

I do hope you can study this year either now or at the second semester. I have no idea what your plans are.

Very lovingly

Carlina -

Please forward.
