Best wishes for the nineteenth from us
all.

Mary goes for a week to Elmira tomorrow, then back here.

A white sack is shown at the top left, with a large pile of gold coins spilling out from its opening. The coins are scattered across the page, with a higher concentration near the sack and a few scattered coins further to the right. A thin horizontal line is drawn across the top of the page, just below the sack.

Should all my wishes for you turn into Dollars
—How rich you'd become.
