

24 April, 1914.

My darling Evangeline.

Mr Schronice brought us your welcome letter while Gutwiler was gone to the Statue found a telegram to Tom stating fearing a letter would not be in time. She is writing and no draft will tell you about it.
I will try and inform the Bells who are always so anxious for news.
M. E. and Gus go next with Pauline to Statue and some jammed down town by Helena. I am out in front yard helping William transplant my 'Lilies of the Valley'. Helen the child came home. M. E. brought me a bouquet of dandelion leaves & leaves and grass and dock leaves' and it is a treasure from her dear hands I have put it in water to freshen.
It was very quiet this morning but now near noon the wind is held again. We had a nice little impromptu play lesson this morning though Brother was not as enthusiastic as usual. Gutwiler said in telegram to Tom "Dear Bethu I'm very glad Glad to hear you join us Bethu or else who. Helena is planning to go Aron Thursday. Love N.Y. 5:00 - Dearest love to the folks in Milton
