you with this a check hoping there may be some particular thing you might be wishing to do and it would in that case be welcome.
I hope it will not seem to you intrusive. I feel great sympathy for you in these great trials meted out to you since William's illness and pray God will continue to sustain you.
I am yours sincerely

My dear Ellen

I have been traveling about so much this summer that I did not receive the notice of William's death promptly and then until I heard from Henry Redden did not know whether it was your intention to remain at Clifton.

Knows best and we cannot judge his methods - Williams has gone higher perhaps to fill a more important and useful place in the Kingdom of Christ and his servants. I hope you and the children are well and when you can I would like to hear about Williams' illness and your plans and of your children. Is Carrie Hudson at Chilton? I ask as I have not heard from her in a long time and she spends so much time at that I was astonished to hear of Williams' death for I thought he was improving constantly - was it a second stroke he received How mysterious it

useful and full of energy should have been cut off in such a way.
And one so good and so active in religious life is so necessary in this world of sin and temptation that Providence certainly
