Fashionable New York Wedding

Henry Anthony Barclay, Jr., and Miss Rosalie Xavier Paul, only daughter of Lieut-Colonel Charles Roman Paul, U. S. Army, were married at the Church of the Heavenly Rest, Fifth avenue, and Forty-fifth street, New York City, on Thursday, April 18th, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The ceremony was performed by the rector, Rev. Dr. D.
Parker Morgan.

The chancel was filled with palms and Easter lilies. It was a most attractive wedding, and the large gathering in the church was representative of the leading families of New York and Philadelphia.

While the guests were assembling an agreeable program of organ and harp music was rendered.

The bridesmaids, Misses Louise L. Yeasie, Julia Post Brown, Ruth D. Koven Prescott and Juli, R. Dwight, entered the church from the Forty-fifth street side at the left of the chancel, and crossing to the center came down the nave to the rear to meet the bride, at the same time Mr. Barclay and his best man, Mr. Wright Barclay, advanced to the head of the steps leading to the altar.

The bridesmaids wore gowns of yellow crepe de chine simply made, with trimpe, sashes and trimmings of yellow chiffon, large black picture hats with ostrich plume, and black kid gloves reaching to the elbows; they carried shower bouquets of white and yellow daisies over the arm. Separating at the rear of the church the bridesmaids stood on either side of the aisle while the bride, leaving upon her father's arm, and preceded by the maid of honor, Miss Gertrude Barclay, passed between them. The bridesmaids then joined the processional, followed by the ushers—Messrs. J. Foster Rawlins, John Van S. Oddie, Robert O. Barclay and J.
Searle Barclay, Jr., cousins of the groom, Engene S. Williard and Dudley G. Edridge.

The bride's gown was made of heavy corded white silk cut en princess, the skirt flushed on either side of the front and ought together with orange blossoms, over an underskirt of plaited white chiffon. The bodice of silk had point lace and orange bl-soms for trimming with a rimpie and elbow sleeves of chiffon. At the throat and fastening her tulle veil the bride wore beautiful diamonds, her wedding gifts. Her bouquet was of white roses and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor, Miss Barclay, wore an effective gown of white mull and Valenoennes lace over pale blue silk, a narrow tanguoise velvet riddle with short ends falling from the back, and a large white picture hat of mull and ostrich plumes.

Her bouquet was of large red roses.

After the ceremony there was a small reception for relatives and a limited number of intimate friends at Sherry's, in the banqueting and green rooms, which were decorated with daisies and palms, and the music was furnished by an Hungarian orchestra.

Some of those present at the ceremony and reception were: Mr and Mrs. Henry Barclay, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Barclay, Mr. and Mrs. J. Searle Barclay, Mr. and Mrs. James M. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Waldron Post Brown, Mrs. Willard P. Ward, Mr. and Mrs. William Constable, Mr. and Mrs. Casimir Constable, Mrs. John V. S.
Oddie, Mr. and Mrs. Edward McVickar, Miss Audubon, Mrs. Geo. W. Raines, Miss Ramsdell, Mr. Lawrence Paul, Dr. James W.
Paul, Miss Paul, Miss Emily Paul, Mr. J.
Rodman Paul, Miss Laura Paul, Mrs. Cannie, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Blair, Mrs. William Scranton, Dr. Omegys Paul, Mrs. G. W.
Paul, Mrs. Bigelow, Mrs. O. L. Thompson, Miss Sydney Pauline Thompson, Mrs. H.
S. Osborne, Mrs. Frederick Packard, the Misses McFarlane, Miss Roberta Harris, Miss Elizabeth McMurtrie, Miss Margaret Shipman, Miss Eva Ketchum, Mrs. J. O.
Rankin, Miss Edna Rankin, Mrs. Emma Green Lewis, Lieut. and Mrs. John M.
Jenkins, Miss Fellows, Col. and Mrs. C. E.
Patten.

Mr and Mrs Barclay will spend part of their honeymoon at Bonnie Bree, Lenox, the country residence of Mr. Henry A.
Barclay, Sr.
