

fellowship of this year together.
 I wonder if you ever know I should love to have spend your and her this - I guess you do, (Oh, I forgot to tell you there is no cost to you for the glasses from Keweenaw - nor nor em - ) and here I am living in all this expense, and of so much less value than you, young & beautiful & talented! I wonder what life means any more?

Don't heat don't cry, your eyes will

I can't begin to think about that there is time enough time to send you just a word of love -

 How could
 I love
 you
 so
 dear?

Dear little Joan Polley's Here I still am, you see, and about to go to bed, but you are so in my thoughts that I must at least say "good night" to you.
 It breaks my heart that you are by this time married, and that your mother probably will not be with you, for so I suppose will be the case, and that you and she must lose the precious never stand it. and then what would you do? You are so vain and full, I am sure you will some day not have to be so tried dear precious little sweetheart.

Of course I didn't intend to let you pay Mrs. Dohall. you certainly got little enough out of your visit, if there was any paying I was the one to pay - but I won't - so!

Now you dear immediate money to our man? for if you have not I must get a man on me, & see what I can do. So tell me dear, when you are ready.

I hope your morning has not been too hard work for you - oh I know it has of course - but I hope not too tiring hard, so you are just as for a little while out of commission for your real work.
Sweetheart you are one grand child!

I have no idea what I am going to do or when I am going to do it. might I had, but I am sure to keep you posted from time to time. I really feel appreciatingly full, I'd say at least as well as it is in time in these years. I love the presents.
