Dear Lucia -

Awfully sorry about the situation there. Hope your throat really got well.

I made a purple lead for each of the children for Colours & they also went to the Colours party, which didn't amount to so much as an entertainment. They spent the front row so way there & stood in the end when the children came & sang the ball & sang the windows that they may have a little touch of cold. They coughed a little last night but not bad - seemed all right otherwise.

I sent off an envelope to Mary this morning with a check for her wages. Forwarded to you yesterday a little an envelope for Helen.

Better watch Mary, especially letters. The strain of holding up the way she does may have a reaction a little later. Don't rush back here too soon. Bring Mary along for a change if she can come.

Awful sorry about it all but it appears inevitable. The Lady has been a heroine through and has lived a very full & affectionate and exemplary life.

Love
Henry

I'll try to send you some money out of next Saturday pay.
