

Sep. 9th 1909,

Daddy,

I suppose I ought to give up the nickname I gave you long ago now that you are grown to be a man. How do you do?

Wishes baby, do you miss her who loved you so tenderly, dear me, how can we be thankful enough for all our mercies, in my mind I begin to connect them certainly they are "new every morning and fresh every evening" let us remember to be thankful for all these good gifts. How does school go? I trust you are making Good boy, darling progress as I know you are dear boy, & cannot they creep into the good? How glad your dear mother will be to know that you are doing well and getting on comfortably. for I think Uncle is a good man, I wish you may hear but I am so glad you turn when I go for help. We here from mother now how is it in Aberdeen that perfect place when I am the see is slipper than it is? your Aunt Caroline's favorite story about your devotion. Do you see go to the old home? I hope you & sister will have a lovely year & make great progress in every good thing, as I believe you both will
