Dear Mill,

I write now especially to ask if, & when, you can come to Morristown to ^{testify as} witness of the will. You and Uncle Scott were the witnesses; Uncle Scott has gone away for the summer, and ~~cannot~~ can do nothing at present. If you can, will you please appoint a time when you can come here and go with me to Morristown; or meet her in Morristown & go with her to the Surrogate's office. It would be well to let us know long enough beforehand to communicate with the Surrogate, so that we may be sure of finding time in his office; though he will probably be there at any time.

A note of yours is among the papers

Here, due some time next month, I believe. Ma wants me to ask if you would like the time extended.

I hope you and your family are all well now; and that you find Bristol as pleasant a place as I believe it to be. We are all fairly well.

Affectionately,

Lucy B. Magie.
